

Plan Is Completed For Roosevelt Talk With Soviet Agent

Course of Parley Guarded—Roosevelt's Visit to Livinoff's Claim That "Half-hour" Will See Negotiations Closed—Deliberation Planned—Discussion to Treat Chiefly of Trade Matters.

Washington, Oct. 30 (AP)—Virtual completion of a formula for President Roosevelt's recognition discussions with Maxim Litvinoff of Russia was revealed today by Washington authorities.

Although state department officials guarded the exact course to be followed by the chief executive in his meeting with the Soviet commissar for foreign affairs, no secret was made of the fact that there had been a final roundup of data for the conversations.

Both Mr. Roosevelt and Secretary Hull remained silent upon Litvinoff's assertion that so far as he was concerned the matter could be settled in half an hour. It was known, however, that the president planned to take considerably longer for what he termed the move to "explode" in across-the-table fashion "all questions outstanding between our countries."

In the discussions, expected here to start early next week, it is Mr. Roosevelt's intention to hit only the high spots with Litvinoff and leave details to assistants.

Secretary Hull, who postponed for a week his trip to South America, will have a hand in this work, as will R. Walton Moore, assistant secretary of state, and William C. Bullitt, special assistant to the secretary of state.

One plan under consideration would call for creation on a special corps of economic and trade experts to handle details. Dr. Herbert Feis, economic advisor to the state department, would have a major part in the set up, along with representatives of the agriculture and commerce departments, the Reconstruction Corporation as well as shipping and other advisors. If Litvinoff himself did not meet with this group, other Soviet experts would.

Observers here have had definite intimations that the discussions will be concerned principally with trade matters. It has been conceded that if the millions of dollars in claims and counter-claims between the two countries had been expected to offer a stumbling block, Mr. Roosevelt's invitation would have been worded differently.

Before the recognition question is finally settled it is expected, however, that definite arrangements will be at least tentatively outlined on credits, and the volume of trade to be exchanged in cotton, foodstuffs, certain metals and machinery on the one hand, and furs, manufactured goods and possibly lumber on the other.

Although the President was warned that the invitation to the Soviet did not necessarily imply recognition, the state department has been making extended preparations for the actual restoration of diplomatic relations with Russia.

A list has been compiled of consular and diplomatic representatives now in various parts of the world who speak Russian and are versed in Soviet conditions. It was stated authoritatively that several men have been given special courses of study to fit them for just such work.

With any resumption of diplomatic relations, the state department would immediately call in young men from the long waiting list of those who have passed examinations for entrance into diplomatic service. Few, if any, of these men would go to Russia. Instead, they would be sent to other parts of the world to win their spurs, replacing already trained officials who would be transferred to Russia.

Famous Actor Dies In New York City
E. H. Sothern, pneumonia victim at 73, played Shakespearean roles for half a century—Best Known Exposure—Funeral Private With Cremation Later.
New York, Oct. 30 (AP)—The last rites for E. H. Sothern, who devoted a lifetime to audiences will be performed without one. Broadway celebrities anxious to do honor to the memory of the street's great romantic actor would have filled Manhattan's largest church but Julia Marlowe has decreed otherwise.
After the news of the 73-year-old actor's death from pneumonia on Saturday was made public yesterday, his wife announced that the services would be private, attended only by herself and intimate friends. Even the time and place of the funeral was withheld. The body will be cremated.

When Sothern retired in 1920 he brought to a close a stage career of half a century. He had started life as a painter and became the best-known Shakespearean actor of his time.

Father, Son Shot In Dance Hall Fray

Son Objects to Attention Paid By Another Man to Girl—Father Also Attacked Seeking to Aid Son—Arrest Two For Further Questioning.

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 30 (AP)—A father and son lay dead today in consequence of what investigating state troopers said was a fight over a girl at a dance at Rensselaerville, a Helderberg mountain village, early yesterday. Fred Furman, 55, a Berne farmer, was instantly killed by a shotgun charge through the chest and his son, Charles Furman, 24, died later in Albany Hospital of a shotgun wound in the abdomen.

After the shooting Walter Quick and Henry Storm, 23-year-old residents of Westerlo, surrendered to Albany police. Although no formal charges were preferred against them they were held for further investigation.

According to the account gleaned by the troopers, young Furman had been paying to a young woman who had been escorted to the dance by Jesse Chrysler of Berne. Storm and Quick were requested to leave the dance hall by the proprietor, John Peterson. They returned as the dance was breaking up, the troopers said, and Quick was shot as he went to the son's assistance.

Retail Code Goes Into Effect Today
Applying Single Compact Agreement of Trade Honesty and Fair Competition to All—Consider Code Greatest Recovery Experiment.
Washington, Oct. 30 (AP)—Most of the country's retail stores with millions of employees began putting into operation today the single compact applying equal standards of trade honesty and fair competition to all.

Officials regarded this NRA retail code as the greatest experiment in the industrial recovery program, and the start of its operation shared attention with big problems of the day.

Chief of these was up at the White House. President Roosevelt invited the steel industry's leaders to tell him why they had not worked out for their coal mines the labor agreement which he demanded three weeks ago.

With this session, the President expected to establish definitely whether the steel men proposed to accept all of his industrial program—including the portion they liked least—or to challenge his authority and force a test of the law's constitutionality.

Hugh S. Johnson, recovery administrator, waited the outcome to decide definitely upon a plan for starting almost immediately on a westward tour of the country. He wants to make several speeches directed at what he considers misunderstandings of the industrial program, and to observe conditions at first hand.

The question of Henry Ford's compliance with the automobile code was temporarily shelved, pending action on government motor contracts, establishment of Ford's intention in regard to filing required data with the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce, and revelations of his attitude on dealing with strikers at his Edgewater, New Jersey, assembly plant.

A reason why particular importance attached to the retail code was that unlike most manufacturing industries, hardly a unit in the army of stores regimented under the compact is engaged in interstate commerce. Hardly one, until passage of the industrial law, could have been reached by federal regulation.

Even under the new law the extent to which regulation may be enforced has not been established clearly.

MORE HAVANA TROUBLES MARKED BY BOMBINGS
Havana, Oct. 30 (AP)—Three more bombs exploded early today in a continuation of labor troubles which leaders predicted would culminate at midnight in a general strike.

Two of the bombs exploded under trams in suburban Lyano and another slightly damaged the printing establishment of Rambla and Bonza, formerly printers of the official Gazette published during the regime of the deposed president, Gerardo Machado.

Bonza is a large stockholder in Diario De La Marina and at present is acting as printer foreman there to enable the paper to publish during the strike of mechanical men.

Japan Favors Peace Pact for the East and Will Hold Conference

Announced by Minister of War—All Powers Interested in the East, Including United States, to be Invited—Hinges Upon Japanese Recognition of Manchukuo.

Tokyo, Oct. 30 (AP)—Minister of War Sadao Araki, now in Western Japan for the annual army maneuvers, was quoted in Japanese newspapers today as advocating a parity of peace.

In an interview, Araki was said to have announced he would propose to the cabinet an international conference in Tokyo for all powers interested in the far east.

Japan, China, Manchukuo, Russia, Great Britain, France, Holland and the United States would be invited, it was said.

"The Orient has become the center of discords involving the whole world and Japan's recognition of Manchukuo has inflamed world opinion like oil upon fire," the minister of war was quoted.

"But," he added, "it would be impossible for Japan to turn back on a course already established concerning Manchuria."

"Treaties alone can not make peace unless they are based on understanding."

"A conference of powers interested in the far east would give Japan an opportunity to explain her motives in the Manchurian campaign and the reason for leaving the League of Nations."

Then, the newspaper quoted him further, "Perhaps other powers could reach a genuine understanding of what has happened in Manchuria—and eventually recognize Manchukuo."

According to the interviewer, Araki added that the conference might discuss disarmament problems preliminary to the 1935 naval conference and also a Japanese-Soviet non-aggression pact.

Foreign Minister Hirota said he knew nothing of Araki's proposal until he read it in the newspapers, but said he expected to talk it over with the war minister on the latter's return to Tokyo. Meanwhile, Hirota withheld his opinion as to the plan's feasibility.

Other foreign office officials said they doubted the feasibility of the project.

A war office spokesman characterized it "merely General Araki's personal idea."

LUPE VELEZ ADMITS SHE'S WED TO TARZAN.
Los Angeles, Oct. 30 (AP)—Lupe Velez, Mexican actress, and Johnny Weissmuller, Tarzan of the screen, admitting they have been married since October 8, said today the reason they kept their marriage a secret was to give "a little girl a break."

The "little girl" was the writer of a film fan magazine, a friend of the film couple, who accompanied the actress and actor to Las Vegas, Nev., last October 8.

"It was my own business," said Miss Velez. "I felt like saying I wasn't married and now I feel like saying I am married."

In Las Vegas Justice of the Peace Frank M. Ryan, who previously denied he had married the couple, admitted he had performed the ceremony.

Boy Awarded $1,000 For Injuries Suffered In Automobile Crash

His Father Is Awarded $40 For Doctor's Bill and Brother-in-Law $200 For Damages to His Car—Large Number of Cases Disposed of During October Term.

Walter Cavanaugh, Jr., 11 year old Jamaica boy, was awarded $1,000 for injuries which he suffered on September 12, 1931, in a motor crash at New Paltz. His father was awarded $40 for doctor's bills and Hugh Coffey, brother-in-law of Cavanaugh, was awarded $200 for damage to his Ford car which he had loaned to Cavanaugh for a trip to Ellenville. The defendant in the action was Howard S. Sherwood. The action was tried in supreme court last week and a sealed verdict was returned at the opening of court this morning. P. A. Mylod appeared for plaintiffs and A. J. Cook for defendants.

After the verdict of the jury had been taken Judge Foster called the day calendar and nothing was ready. Several cases were stricken from the calendar and court took a short recess in order that clients in another case might have time to reach court.

Thus far Judge Foster has disposed of a large number of cases during the October term. Sixteen cases have been tried, 37 have been settled and 62 stricken from the calendar under judgment directed by the court. Five cases have been referred and complaints were dismissed in nine other actions. Twenty-eight cases have been stricken off by the court. Thus far 159 actions have been removed from the trial calendar.

Hallowe'en Plea Made by Police
Chief of Police J. Allan Wood speaking of the observance of Hallowe'en here said this morning:

"The merchants of Kingston were so pleased with the compliance, by young folks, to the request last year to refrain from marking up windows with soap and other things, that they have again requested me to bring attention to the fact that the Hallowe'en period of 1933 is again with us and will undoubtedly be celebrated by young people on October 31st. That this celebration be carried out without interfering with the rights of others is the desire of every one. Innocent and harmless plays and pastimes are almost always enjoyed by adults as well as by children."

It is only when things are done and acts are performed which annoy and interfere with other persons, that complaints are made to the police.

The old practice of marking the windows of stores, which we have gotten away from was a very poor way of celebrating a day which was set apart for holy and religious use. Disfiguring windows, damaging property, acting in a disorderly rough manner in public, can hardly be termed to relate in any way to the spirit of Hallowe'en. Therefore every one was relieved last year when demonstrations were confined to innocent amusement, games and pastimes. The credit for this belongs to the young people of the city. Because of various changes in places of residence of our citizens and addition of hundreds of children who might not be familiar with the way we celebrate Hallowe'en in Kingston, it is urged that parents cooperate in this matter and caution children regarding destructive play and practices. It is hoped that no property owner who is endeavoring to maintain his or her home or business, will be put to needless expense or annoyance through Hallowe'en activities.

Livinoff Covers Moves With Secrecy
Paris, Oct. 30 (AP)—Abruptly bringing to an end the mystery which had surrounded his movements for hours, Maxim Litvinoff, Russian foreign commissar, arrived here today en route to the United States.

He was reported to have left Berlin for Paris yesterday, but he did not arrive on the train he was believed to have taken and it was not until he showed up on his own accord that it was generally known what had happened to him.

His plans for sailing to the United States, where he is to confer with President Roosevelt regarding possible American recognition of Russia, remained veiled in secrecy.

He made no appointments here, but it was said he might see Foreign Minister Paul-Boncour and associates pointed out he would have to get a visa to go to the United States.

Poughkeepsie Rector Varying Reactions Attacks Episcopate Here and Abroad on Gold Purchase Plan

In Statement Declaring Episcopal Bishops at Philadelphia "Pontifical Mass" Guilty of Malfeasance in Office—Reserve Censure From Congregations of Church.

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Oct. 30 (AP)—Episcopal bishops who took part in the "pontifical solemn high Mass" in Philadelphia October 21, in the opinion of Dr. Alexander Griswold Cummins, rector of Christ Episcopal Church here, were "guilty of malfeasance in office."

Dr. Cummins referred to the ceremony held in connection with the Anglo-Catholic Congress.

"This service was called a solemn Eucharist," he said in a sermon yesterday "to cover up with more title a service which was in every particular a pontifical high Mass as nearly Roman as the knowledge of Roman technique on the part of those conducting it could make it. It was advertised as in thanksgiving for the Catholic re-awakening."

"It was in fact a day of humiliation for the Protestant Episcopal Church. These leaders of this church participated in an act of betrayal of sacred trust, the breach of solemn vows and honorable contracts."

"The several bishops present, dressed in Mass vestments, together with the presiding bishop, Dr. Perry, in similar garb, by their presence and acts were guilty of malfeasance in office and deserving of the censure of all right thinking members of the Protestant Episcopal Church."

Rev. A. A. Walker to Be Buried on Tuesday
Services Will Be Held at Methodist Church in Rhinebeck and Burial Will Be in Wiltwyck Cemetery.

The Rev. Augustus A. Walker, pastor of the Rhinebeck Methodist Episcopal Church, who died suddenly Saturday morning at the parsonage in that village, was a native of Kingston, a son of Henry and Amanda DuMont Walker. He was born July 22, 1864, and prior to entering the ministry he was in the employ of the Daily Leader as a collector and solicitor. Later he edited the Kingston District News, an Epworth League magazine, and was statistician of the New York Conference for many years. During his residence in Kingston he was active in church affairs and for some time taught a class of some 45 young men in the Clinton Avenue M. E. Church. Later he became a local preacher and studied for the ministry.

In 1893 he became pastor at Ashland and among the places where he was later stationed were Hobart, Hunter, Margaretville, Pine Hill, Shandaken, Monroe, Yonkers, Hillmont, Mattawan, Kotonah, Monticello, Wappingers Falls and Rhinebeck. During his time in the ministry he built three churches and was unusually active in each of his charges. Heights of Yonkers and Big Indian were built under his supervision.

He was president of the Kingston and Poughkeepsie Districts of the Epworth League for nine years and his services as statistician of the New York Conference extended over a period of 25 years. Actively interested in Masonry, he was Past Grand Chaplain of the Grand Lodge of New York and was a member of Kingston Lodge, No. 10, F. & A. M., of this city. He was also a member of Charles DeWitt Council, No. 91, Jr. O. U. A. M. of Kingston.

In 1893 he was married to Carolyn Whitaker, who was organist at the Clinton Avenue M. E. Church. His wife survives him. Mrs. Walker is a daughter of the late William Whitaker, who was a prominent business man of this city. The Rev. Mr. Walker was a cousin of Harry B. Walker, Republican candidate for mayor of Kingston.

At the spring session of the New York conference the Rev. Mr. Walker was transferred to Rhinebeck from Wappingers Falls and had been at Rhinebeck for only six or seven months.

Funeral services will be held at the Methodist Church in Rhinebeck, Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Interment will be in Wiltwyck cemetery, Kingston, at 2:30 p. m., where Masonic services will be in charge of members of Kingston Lodge. Friends wishing to view the remains may do so between the hours of 11 and 1 Tuesday at the Methodist Church in Rhinebeck.

New York, Oct. 30 (AP)—Three Bronx youths, arrested yesterday and accused of sending threatening letters to Dr. William P. Beach, a Bronx physician, will be arraigned in federal court on the so-called Lindbergh kidnaping charge. They face possible maximum sentences of 25 years.

One Cent a Day Brings $100 a Month

Over $270,000.00 Already Paid in Cash Benefits

One cent a day ($2.65 per year) invested in a National Protective Policy, will now buy more accident insurance benefits than can be secured from any other company for any amount up to $10 per year.

This new policy, paying accident benefits up to $100 each month or $1,000 at death, is now being sold to all men, women and children, between the ages of 7 and 65 years, whether employed or not.

More people in the U. S. were killed by auto accidents during the past 15 months than the entire number of American soldiers killed in action or died of wounds during the 15 months America was in the world war.

Many people say that the National Protective benefits for auto accidents of $100 a month (instead of the usual $25 or $50 a month) is alone worth the entire cost of $2.65 a year. Yet this is but one of the many features of this new and unusual policy.

The National Protective is the largest and oldest company of its kind in the world. It has paid over six hundred seventy thousand dollars ($670,000.00) in cash to thousands of policyholders when cash was most needed.

For 10 days' free inspection of policy, simply send name, age, address and name and relationship of beneficiary to National Protective Insurance Co., 502 Pickwick Bldg., Kansas City, Mo. No medical examination or red tape. After reading policy which will be mailed to you, either return it or send $2.65, which pays you up for a whole year—365 days. Send today while offer is still open.—Adv.

BISURATED MAGNESIA

Not a laxative but the best friend any upset stomach can have.

An enemy to stomach gas—to fermentation—to acidity and sourness—no bloating—that's just what Bisurated Magnesia is. It's so supremely good and soothing that it doesn't drive out gas and acidity in 5 minutes—it doesn't put your poor, crinkled stomach in the working condition. It's one week, any druggist will return the purchase price—and it's almost as cheap as harsh, irritating, habit-forming soda—and much more efficient.—A.S.

Twelve Checks

of unusual value

Of all the services that we are privileged to render, we can most heartily commend our One-Year Monthly Income plan.

After the death of the insured we deliver twelve checks, one every month for a year. A favorite amount is $100 monthly.

These ready dollars in that trying first year are beyond valuation. They furnish comfort and assurance; a chance to collect thoughts, revive courage and lay new plans.

The premium, paid once, twice or four times a year, runs about a nickel a day at age twenty, a dime in the early forties or a few cents more if you start later in life.

Larger amounts or longer periods can be arranged. A choice of policy forms is available. Premium referred to above is for "Endowment at Age 65."

Set up this safeguard for your home circle and they will never be caught unprepared. It will make an ideal supplement to your lump-sum insurance.

Anti-Jewish Rioters

In New Revolt Today

Palmerston Uprising Said To Be Spreading Beyond Holy Land—Arab Executive Appeals to League of Nations After Demanding Prisoners' Release.

Jerusalem, Oct. 29 (AP)—The angry
cries of Arab anti-Jewish rioters, their ranks already thinned by 27 slain and more than 200 wounded, rang out again today in Palestine.

Moreover, the movement against increasing Jewish immigration was reported spreading beyond the Holy Land—into Syria and Transjordan.

These reports, adding to increased excitement locally as a result of Sunday's clash between police and demonstrators in which two Moslems were reported killed, led authorities to muster all available strength.

Throughout Palestine—Jerusalem, Jaffa and Haifa, in particular—police rushed enrollment of a corps of special constables.

These, it was believed, would be able with the aid of regulars and government troops to put down further outbreaks such as have kept tension high for three days.

A graver view of the situation was taken when a late check of casualties disclosed that two native policemen had been killed and 15 British police wounded.

An English-owned shop was one of those forced to close when an Arab mob early Sunday smashed fixtures and furniture in a Jewish establishment.

Despite arrests of leaders, the Arab executives which have urged the Arab strikes and demonstrations met and passed a resolution of protest against police methods, demanding the release of prisoners. The executives also directed an appeal to the League of Nations.

A British magistrate remanded all prisoners for 15 days in the jail at Acre.

Expect Debt Default.

Washington, Oct. 30 (AP)—American officials have been prepared for a
France as probably inevitable, regardless of who might be heading the cabinet when December 15, the next due date, arrives. This conclusion was drawn from the emphatic attitude of the chamber of deputies against further payments, as expressed from time to time.

Tickets Selling Fast

For Hummel Concert

Tickets for the concert to be given Friday evening by Earle Hummel, violinist, and Stanley Hummel, pianist, at the Eisendorf Street Presbyterian Church are finding a ready sale. As these two young musicians are Kingstons born and are bringing as much musical renown to the place of their birth as to Albany the city of their residence, and to themselves.

Earle, the boyhood protégé of the great Franz Kneisel and long his pupil, first came onto the scene musically in Kingston, where he has always found ready and sincere appreciation of his most unusual talent. He has been heard in recitals at Town Hall in New York in recent years where he has won glowing fine comments by musical critics.

More recently Earle has brought to his violin playing a fire and warmth so necessary to the best presentation of violin music. He has been splendently accompanied by his brother, Stanley, who is appearing as the piano soloist at the concert on Friday evening. Stanley's already marked genius has been receiving added training this past summer in Europe, where his musicianship was rewarded by the gift of scholarships. Friends in this city are looking forward with added interest to hearing him after the summer's musical experience.

Sees Tax Portions Distribution Unequal

Binghamton, N. Y., Oct. 30 (AP)— Charging that the present system of distributing state beer revenues to townships on a basis of population is unjust, Trustee Michael M. Kingsley of Johnson City today started a statewide campaign to obtain passage of an amendment providing payments direct to first class villages.

In a letter to the boards of all such villages in the state, sent through Clarence R. Nimmmons, Johnson City fiscal officer, Kingsley declared that the present system deprives villages of a share in the tax monies, although the burden of enforcement falls on them. Furthermore, Kingsley said most places licensed to sell beer and other beverages are located in the villages, while elsewhere are many townships no such places exist.

The Johnson City village board has gone on record favoring the change. Nimmmons estimated that the revision would bring in revenue of $25,000 a year to the village.

WALL-CHOPPING THIEVES

STEAL VALUABLE FURS

New York, Oct. 30 (AP)—Furs valued at between $100,000 and $125,- 000 were stolen from Kroll brothers, in the Bronx during the week-end by burglars who chopped their way through the wall of an adjoining apartment house.

The thieves worked from the third floor of the apartment house, making their way into a supposedly burglar-proof vault. The vault contained extra furs valued at $500,000 and Kroll said the thieves showed good knowledge of fur value by picking the best.

prevent a citizen from exercising his right to make an arrest as a citizen if a crime is committed in his presence.

TOO COSTLY INSURANCE

The Democratic candidate for Mayor has challenged the statement made by the Republican candidate with reference to the saving that might be had if the city continued as a self-insurer with reference to its compensation insurance, which was estimated at $5,000 a year.

The city was a self-insurer under Mayor Dempsey in the years 1929, 1930 and 1931.

In the year 1932 the Board of Public Works paid for compensation insurance $10,659.23.

Assuming that this represents a fair average for the years 1929, 1930 and 1931, the city would have paid to insurance companies the sum of $32,048.17. In this same three-year period as a self-insurer the city paid to its employees in accident cases the following:

1929	$ 813.32
1930	2,516.23
1931	2,332.78
1932 (claims arising in the previous 3-year period)	423.67
1933 (claims arising in the previous 3-year period)	357.69
	$6,443.66

This shows a net saving to the city over a three-year period of $25,618.51, against which there may be charges of from $300 to $400 for some few years yet to come.

The Democratic candidate for Mayor was a member of the Board of Public Works in the years when that board abandoned the right to self-insurance and insured the risk. He can obtain the figures showing the payments made by the Board of Public Works for the two-year period. As a basis he might use the payment of 1932 and a like sum for 1933, which would represent a payment for insurance of $21,378.78 for the two-year period. He can get through the insurance company that carried the risk the exact amount paid by that company on claims, and the amount paid for commissions. If the average for the two years did not exceed the average over the previous three-year period the charges against premium of 1932-33 would amount approximately to $4,293 and would show a net to the insurance company of $17,085.

With the apparent intention of camouflaging the substantial saving to the taxpayers for the three years 1929-31 of $25,618.51 the Democratic candidate has laid great stress upon the failure of the Republican administration to carry a cash reserve of substantially the amount saved through self-insurance.

Cash reserve for this purpose would simply mean that each year the city would take from the taxpayers an amount largely in excess of that required to meet current demands under self-insurance. This would be kept in a special fund for contingencies that in all probability would never arise.

The state of New York recognized this fact when it permitted municipalities to become self-insurers without giving security in the form of a deposit of bonds with the State Industrial Commission. This is required from other corporations. The state had in mind the fact that a municipality with the power of taxation is in a position to take care of current demands, therefore a reserve in the form of a deposit was not required.

The state apparently had no apprehension concerning the solvency of municipal corporations within the state. Is the Democratic candidate for Mayor apprehensive concerning the solvency of the city of Kingston? If so, does that fear arise by reason of the fact that the Democratic administration has added so materially to the bonded debt of the city as to bring our present bonded indebtedness above the two million mark?

LIQUIDITY AND SERVICE

"We are inclined to believe," remarks a financial writer, "that everyone can look forward to the early months of next year, when the federal guarantee of bank deposits goes into effect, with real hope and encouragement. Banks should be able then to concentrate upon the normally helpful services they perform for business without any fear that their depositors will start a run. A desire to serve business in applying its operating needs should then displace the race for liquidity as the main purpose of a banker's life. This is well said. And a growing appreciation among bankers of the facts referred to is largely responsible for the lessening opposition to deposit insurance. We may see an end of the absurd situation in which many banks have been liquidated that they couldn't make any money, and so sound that they couldn't do anything for their community.

The banks, remembering the catastrophe of last March and the public tendency to money-panic, have felt that they had to keep their resources liquid at any cost. Such a policy, long continued, starves the banks and starves trade and industry. The great need of the time is to expand credit and get money into active circulation again. It is reasonable to expect that the security provided for both banks and depositors by the insurance plan will help as much as anything to accomplish this purpose.

CALIFORNIA RECONSIDERS

Now that California, which is chiefly responsible for the Asiatic exclusion clause in our immigration act, is changing her mind, there is a good chance of that international irritant being removed. The presidents of nine important California colleges issue a statement urging that the quota plan now applying to European countries be applied also to Japan and China, in harmony with "the recognized principles of justice and fair dealing." The state Chamber of Commerce has also declared for quotas, its plea being supported by important foreign trade clubs in San Francisco and Los Angeles. More important still, perhaps, is the similar acquiescence of the California Federation of Labor. The National Federation also has withdrawn its opposition.

All these groups, and many others, agree that American living standards will not suffer from the entrance of 105 Chinese and 185 Japanese a year—which are their respective limits under the quota system—and not laborers, either, but people of professional and commercial classes. To those who ask why there has been so much fuss about such a trifle, the answer is that it isn't a trifle to the countries affected. It is a question of saving their self-respect and cultivating their friendship instead of their enmity. Here is a practical contribution to peace. And if we cannot preserve peace in Europe, all the more reason for preserving peace on the Pacific.

Outrageous Fortune

by Patricia Wentworth

SYNOPSIS: First Caroline Leigh leaves home to see her son, Jim, who is a doctor. She is told by her son that he is a doctor. She is told by her son that he is a doctor. She is told by her son that he is a doctor.

Chapter II
 HALE PLACE AGAIN

It was more than an hour past midnight when Caroline came to Hale Place again.

Out in the dark, with the damp air blowing in her face and the trees of the avenue making a soft swishing sound overhead, Caroline had her first chance to think over the events of the afternoon. The more she thought about them, the more they frightened her. If Elmer Van Berg had been with her, she would have been able to tell the police with her story of Jim's fingerprints. Caroline simply couldn't force her thoughts any further. It occurred to her that she was afraid and shuddered back.

She passed to the scene in Caroline Russell's room. The woman terrified her with her smooth voice, and her hints, and her pool of ink. But she hadn't looked into the pool while she described the Blue Room. Caroline wondered, shivering, whether she knew what room it was, and where. She felt sure that Nesta didn't know.

How could Susie Van Berg's emeralds be at Hale Place? How could they be in the Blue Room? Caroline Russell had never said that they were there, but she had described the room. She had described the room, and she had begun to describe the bed. Was it possible? Nesta had stopped her. If she had only known. "No, it's silly to feel so frightened," she doesn't know—she doesn't. Suppose Caroline Russell tells her. . . . She mustn't—oh, she mustn't! Hurry—hurry and tell Jim!" She ran the last part of the way and came breathless to the back door.

It was wide open, and that halted Caroline. She had brought a flashlight with her this time, and she sent the little bright ray questing ahead of her before she entered.

ALL at once she felt that the ray of her torch was a danger. Suppose yesterday's burglar had returned. Suppose Jim were not here. . . . She did not wait to suppose any more, but turned off her torch and went through the hall and up the stairs in the dark.

The house had an empty, friendly feeling. It did not frighten her to be alone in it. Generations of her own people had gone up and down these same stairs, had been born and married and had died in the dark rooms on either hand.

She came to the door of the Blue Room and, feeling before her, found it open too. She knew that the room was empty before she crossed the threshold. She stood in the middle of the floor and switched on her torch again. This was what Caroline Russell had seen with those pale, fixed eyes. "I am in the middle of the room—I am turning." That was what Caroline Russell had said.

Caroline Leigh stood in the middle of the floor and turned slowly, counting the windows as Caroline Russell had counted them—one, two, three, four, five narrow windows like slits. Then the fireplace—two candlesticks on the shelf, one of them broken, with the candle lying beside it.

She went on turning. Caroline Russell had said, "I am still turning." The door came next, then a space of wall, and then the recess that held the bed. The torch shone on the wall and flickered over the bed foot and the two carved pillars.

Caroline sent the ray of her torch straight to the head of the bed, a piece of massive carving supported by pillars. The pattern of the carving was an apple-tree with Adam and Eve on either side of it, and in the middle of the tree a shield with the arms of Ralph de Burgh, whose heiress had married a Randal and brought this bed with her.

The arms should have been there, a castle and three spear-heads, but—Caroline caught her breath. The beam wavered in her shaking hand. With both hands on the torch to steady it, she came up to the bed.

THE shield stood out at an angle like a door and showed a dark cavity behind it. Caroline knew the

PLAN DANCE AND SHOW AT COMMUNITY CENTER

The Jewish Community Center has made extensive plans for an educational and social program for the year 1933-34. As the year progresses announcements of lectures, study-groups and new club activities will be made.

A Fashion Show and Dance is to be held on Thursday evening. November 2. It is one of the social events planned for the Center members, their friends and the public at large. The committee in charge is busily engaged in enlarging the stage and working out an appropriate decorative scheme. It is doing its utmost to make this affair an outstanding event, since the pleasure of the Center's guests is the committee's first concern. Many members of the Ladies' Auxiliary and Young People's League are acting in cooperation with the committee.

This annual fall dance is one of the Center season's most important social functions. Proceeds from the affair go directly to the Center and the future of this institution is, to a great extent, dependent on the financial success of the dance.

Tonight Rabbi Brillant will start the course in Bible study in Hebrew with Jewish translation. This class will meet in the Center at 8 o'clock.

Wrong Phone Number.
 There was an error in the telephone number of Mrs. Anna Mowell's "Little Dutch Tea Shop", which will open at her home, 139 Pearl street, November 1. The phone number of Mrs. Mowell's house and tea shop is 2761, where she may be reached for reservations for afternoon teas, luncheons, dinners or will receive orders for her famous baked goods.

The BARCAROLLE FROM "TALES OF HOFFMAN" BY OFFENBACH

A REMARKABLE PROPHECY THAT CAME TRUE

OFFENBACH himself prophesied that the "Tales of Hoffman," the last of the hundred odd operas that he wrote, would be the most popular of all. But he was not granted the one wish he had in the world—to witness a performance of his merry extravaganza, since the operetta did not reach the Paris stage till 1881, the year after he passed away. It speedily became the rage of all Europe, and to this day marks its author as the undisputed master of light opera. Hoffman, the central character of the work, was a celebrated German writer, artist and critic. The fantastic opera is based on Hoffman's stories but also includes some extraordinary incidents from his life. In the tragic second act, Hoffman, through the sleight of a magician and commits murder. The famous "Barcarolle" which opens the act, is a charming song to the beauty of the night and love. It creates a lovely musical background for the bewitching Venetian scene, with its drifting gondolas, moonlit canals and ornate palaces.

LUTHERAN MINSTREL PROVED POPULAR.
 The most successful entertainment ever presented by the Senior Luther League of the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer was held Friday evening as a minstrel was given entitled "All On Deck," at the Y. M. C. A. auditorium before a large audience. There was not a dull moment.
 The minstrel opened with the chorus humming "Drifting." The audience was delighted as it saw the scenery which represented a vessel, the wheel house and forward part of the ship being visible. The inter-locutor was the captain. This part was taken with ability by Henry Deane. The girls in the ship's company were dressed in neat sailor dresses trimmed with red, while the fellows wore blue coats and white ducks. The men consisted of two "Gobs," Gilbert Schline and Fred Fox, and two "stowaways," Fred Spalt, Jr., and Alfred Messinger, the latter two being dressed upon the stage after interrupting the opening of the show by snoring back stage.
 As encores to their solos Chet Fox and Fred Spalt gave dance numbers. In the closing chorus, Kenneth Deyo, dressed as a woman, revealed his identity much to the amazement of the audience.
 Two short sketches were presented, one by Chet Fox and Fred Spalt, entitled "Who's Afraid of the Big Bad Wolf?" and the other by Henry Deane and Fred Spalt, entitled "The Scare Crow Dance." The final number was by the entire company representing the "Spirit of 1933, N.R.A." This number was opened by the roll of the drum and then the marching across of "The Spirit of 1933," represented by Bert Koits, Cleon Mackey and Paul Brandorf. At the close the chorus sang "Marching Along," while the spotlight was thrown upon the American flag now blowing in the wind on the top of the wheel house on the side, while on the other side the spotlight was thrown upon a large picture of President Roosevelt. The hearty applause throughout the performance and the many commendations passed gave proof that the young people had given a very creditable show. The attractive scenic effects were arranged by Richard Bailey, Jr., assisted by his father, Richard Bailey.

MENTAL HOSPITALS

One of the reasons that more mental patients are being cured than at any previous time is because of the increasing number who enter these mental hospitals of their own accord.

As you know it is a serious matter to confine an individual to a mental hospital against his will, and it is perhaps only right that the law requires that two physicians after examining the patient, must sign the papers committing him to the mental hospital.

Naturally a physician, unless he has observed the patient for some time, hesitates to sign away his liberty.

Further, relatives and friends of the patient often hesitate for a long time before making up their minds to have him committed.

Dr. R. MacLachlan Franks, Toronto Psychiatric Hospital, says it is surprising the number of friends and relatives who will come to the physician saying, "If these commitment papers are signed will you ever be able to see the patient again, or take him or her home if we wish it?" It takes considerable time to reassure them and even then when they leave you feel that they still think it is a fatal tragic step never to be corrected.

How different this is to the newer methods in some countries. The patient goes to his family doctor who after examining him or having a mental specialist do so, gives him a piece of paper, like any other prescription which the patient takes to the mental hospital himself. The paper states that in the opinion of the physician the patient appears to be suffering from a mental disability requiring care and treatment such as given in a mental hospital.

Thus the patient has no sense of imprisonment and bears no grudge against any of his friends; it was the doctor's opinion that brought him to hospital, therefore he is contented to stay until once more the doctor expresses his opinion and states that the patient is well enough to return home.

In Rome, for instance, the mental hospital is simply one of a group of buildings so that one patient goes to the surgical building, another to the medical building and another to the mental building. You can readily see how this method classifies mental ailments as simply another form of sickness, mental sickness, and so removes any stigma or disgrace from the patient and friends about entering a mental hospital.

Ready for Winter At Boiceville Camp

Shokan, Oct. 28.—Building construction at the C. C. C. camp at Boiceville is practically completed and it is expected that most of the frame structures will be occupied during the early part of next week. The large windows, 25 of them to each of the 124-foot barracks, are in, and the celotex insulating has been laid throughout the interior of the several units. The stores will soon be put up, the electrical fixtures are being installed, and when these items have been taken care of the boys will vacate the large hospital ward tents which have served them for quarters during the seven months that the camp has been in existence. Also, within a few days, the military staff at the camp will move into the new administration building at the north end of the grounds. There remains still to be erected the garage for housing the six conservation corps trucks and the two army trucks in use at Camp No. 2.

The hospital building, which will be in charge of Lieutenant Kleiman, has one large room and three small ones, the partitions being of celotex. The lavatory, a 56-foot structure adjoining the hospital on the west, will have 36 wash basins, and 10 shower baths, together with a boiler and water heater operated by Engineer Ben Franckel of the 215th Co. The cement floor for this unit was being put in on Friday. The work of laying the water pipes on the bottom of trenches four feet deep also is in progress. Sections of the pipe froze and burst during the cold snap of Wednesday night, and the job of lowering the level of the pipe line is being pushed with all possible speed in order to insure against a repetition of this inconvenience. Several new electric light poles have been placed about the grounds, the work being done mostly by woodsmen detailed for that purpose. Clyde Everett of Lake Katrine is numbered among the boys who are assisting William C. Weyman of Phoenixia with the wiring. Young Everett, who resided in Shokan as a boy, has had previous experience at this kind of work in New York city.

About the Folk.
Camp No. 2 on Friday morning was visited by Brigadier General Roberts, commander of the Northern C.C.C. zone, who made an inspection of the camp grounds. The general's headquarters are at Fort Ontario, Oswego. It is expected that the commanding officer, Major George W. Easterday, who has guided the destinies of the 125th Company since its organization, and who has been largely instrumental in developing the camp to its present high state of efficiency, will be transferred elsewhere next month. The probable change is in line with the new policy of gradually turning over the commissioned officer staffs to reserve officers. Captain John G. Reel, formerly of Kingston, who has been a member of the commissioned officer personnel at the camp since the beginning of the second C.C.C. enrollment, probably will be named to succeed Major Easterday as commander in the event of the latter being transferred elsewhere. Captain Reel is connected with the field artillery branch of the reserve corps. The captain is one of the two platoon commanders of the 215th company, the other being Lieutenant Otto Wienecke.

The following men recently were promoted to section foremen: Clayton Christiana (Krumville), Irwin Art, Marshall F. Easton, Thomas Velonis and Russ Pupello. There are eight sub-section foremen and twenty squad foremen. Forester Mulry has been transferred to the new camp at Deposit where John H. O'Dell, until recently a foreman of foresters at Boiceville, also is stationed. Vergne O'Dell, formerly of Camp No. 2, paid a visit to the local camp Friday. Mr. O'Dell came here on inspection duty. General foremen of foresters at the present time are L. G. Knapp, R. C. Sweet and E. J. Marotte. There are also 18 foresters in charge of field crews. Charles Terry, who for the past several weeks served as recreational director, is no longer connected with Camp No. 2. Nothing definite is known at this time regarding a possible successor to Mr. Terry. Tony Mancuso, one of the two commissioned officers' orderlies, has secured a job in the outside world and will leave Boiceville Wednesday to assume his new duties. Mancuso, who is a lightweight boxer of considerable fame, is well liked by the officers and men stationed at the big camp.

Work in the Forests.
Wednesday, November 1, the beginning of the deer hunting season, will find the field force of the 215th Co., 150 strong, at work in the forests of the Ashokan Reservoir marginal strip, whither the men will be detailed as a "safety first" measure. The woodsmen probably will be divided into two bodies in order to cover both the north and south sides of the city's preserve simultaneously. The crews will start out on their search for gypsy moth egg masses at the Boiceville bridge, near the upper end of the west basin of the reservoir. A crew of 25 woodsmen are now engaged in trail improvement work in the Woodland Valley of the town of Shandaken, where the old bark roads leading up to Cornell, Wittenberg and Slide mountains are to be made passable and put in better condition for emergency fire fighting. There are literally hundreds of these abandoned trails scattered throughout the forests of northern Ulster, many of them being so choked with second growth trees as to be hardly recognizable as roads. During the years of the heyday of the tanning industry, bark roads were roughly constructed along the steep sides of the mountains, and many of these old trails, if cleared up a little and repaired, may perhaps again become of economic value. There are also scores of "wood roads," such as were used by the timber crews of Lemuel Boice, Zadoc P. Boice and other lumbermen of days gone by, and which are familiar to hunters and hikers who find them a great convenience upon occasion in "getting out of the woods." Woodland Valley Crew.

The Woodland Valley crew will also assist in repairing the highways, greatly damaged by the August freshet, in that sector. Following the completion of their work in the valley, the woodsmen probably will be assigned to a new job in the Canaan, where a trail from the head of Watson Hollow to Monticane Mountain will be constructed. The enrollees under the second "hitch" have all been trained for field work and these will be included in the details operating in the reservoir country during the next two weeks. An additional conservation corps truck has been received at Boiceville, bringing the number of these carriers up to six. The trucks, accommodating up to six men including the driver, who is a forest er, will soon be protected with canvas tops as a means of protection for the boys in the course of their daily trips to and from the woods. Three inches of snow was reported at Belle Ayer mountain near Pine Hill by the crew of trail makers working there. A barrel of alcohol has been received at the camp for use in the radiators of the several trucks during freezing weather. Uncle Sam takes no chances on the old bus getting "froze up."

Outside Information.
A movement is now on foot to provide moving pictures for all C. C. C. camps, according to Happy Days, the corps newspaper, which states that 100 projectors have already been purchased, and several of the machines have been shipped to camps located near Washington. Present plans call for one projector to serve approximately ten camps, thereby affording movie shows to each unit about once a week. Each set of equipment will be in charge of a peevish who has been trained in the job of lowering the level of the pipe line is being pushed with all possible speed in order to insure against a repetition of this inconvenience. Several new electric light poles have been placed about the grounds, the work being done mostly by woodsmen detailed for that purpose. Clyde Everett of Lake Katrine is numbered among the boys who are assisting William C. Weyman of Phoenixia with the wiring. Young Everett, who resided in Shokan as a boy, has had previous experience at this kind of work in New York city.

Camp No. 2 at Boiceville has an altitude above sea level of some 600 feet, which is considered pretty high up for a conservation corps unit in the East, yet when compared with that of some of the camps in the far West it is quite "low-lands." Take the camp located on the rim of the Grand Canyon in Arizona, for instance; it is now at an altitude of 8,340 feet and soon is to be moved to the banks of the Colorado River in the depths of the canyon, where the elevation is approximately a mere 2,500 feet. An army train of 60 mules has been engaged since the middle of September in packing down into the canyon the necessary materials for construction, and this train will be retained for supplying the needs of the camp after it is completed for winter quarters. This is said to be the last civilian pack train remaining in the United States Army.—The record for reenlistments in the third corps area goes to Co. 1376, near Richmond, Va., with every one of the 185 members present on September 30, remaining for a second "hitch." The company is composed of Virginia colored men conditioned at Langley Field.—For our weekly bedtime story let us consider the adventure of the mess sergeant of Co. 203, at North Hudson, recently. Awakened in the still night by something furry crawling over his chest, the "sarge" at first thought his visitor was Nigger, the camp cat. Not quite satisfied, however, he woke up the cook who turned on the lights, whereupon the sergeant's eyes popped as he found himself looking into the face of an angry raccoon. Business of an uninvited mess officer slipping hastily from between the blankets. The 'coon was cornered and thrust into a box for safekeeping, after which the sarge tried to resume his slumbers. The Unicorn.

The unicorn is regarded as a fabulous beast, but the first man who reported seeing one probably believed he had. The gamsbuck or cape oryx has two horns of the same length and shape as the single horn of the classic unicorn. One of these animals which had lost one horn in a fight would look almost exactly like the unicorn of legend.

Managing Money : A New Job For NO. 2—FLEXIBILITY IN THE DOLLAR'S GOLD CONTENT

(This is the second of four articles concerning the administration's new monetary policies in relation to commodity prices and the recovery program.)

By Eader Winger
New York (P)—Theories of currency control as advocated by Prof. G. F. Warren apparently have been utilized in important parts in creating the new government monetary policy.

The Cornell University professor who is a member of the Roosevelt brain trust proposed the theories as a stabilization factor.

Under the Roosevelt plan, stabilization is sought in one phase through the fixing of the price of gold in domestic markets.

At Price Stability.
Professor Warren has pointed to a proposal for a managed currency to be controlled by central banks in such a way as to keep the average of commodity prices stable.

The Reconstruction Finance Corporation, under the Roosevelt plan, could be compared to a central bank which manages the currency through gold price establishment.

Professor Warren's compensated dollar plan was a proposal to establish by law a currency redeemable in gold, but the weight of the gold for which the dollar would exchange would vary with the index number of wholesale prices of all commodities.

Compensation Planned.
As he explained it, if prices rose 1 per cent, the weight of gold for which the dollar would exchange would rise 1 per cent, and the same in reverse would follow.

"This would keep the dollar stable in buying power for the average of all commodities," he said.

The dollar has to be rubber, he contended either as to weight or as to value; it cannot have a fixed weight and also have a fixed value.

"This proposal would give it a fixed value and a rubber weight."

A scientific money is one with a constant buying power for all commodities rather than a fixed weight of one commodity," he said.

Fixing The Gold Price.
Under the Roosevelt plan the dollar price of gold will be fixed from time to time by the Reconstruction

The managed dollar as seen by Prof. G. F. Warren of Cornell University (above) might be likened to an "elevator" or conveyor to lift Finance Corporation after consultation with the President and the secretary of the treasury.

In effect this would mean the dollar weight in relation to gold will be changed as conditions in domestic market warrant.

Warren Favors Plan.
Professor Warren said, "Our whole tax and debt structure rests on commodity prices. If this structure is to be kept sound either for the creditor or the debtor, it is commodity prices that need to be kept stable, not the weight of gold for which a dollar will exchange."

He viewed price stabilization as a mass action. "Stabilizing the commodity price level does not mean that any single commodity will be free from fluctuations in price due to the supply of it or the demand for it," he said.

"It does mean that commodity prices as a whole may be freed from being swept up or down as a mass due either to world supply of gold or frantic changes in the demands for it."

DIVIDENDS

Any company or corporation that does not pay dividends is always questioned.

HOW ABOUT THE INDIVIDUAL?

Anyone who is not a dividend-payer can put himself on that basis by starting a bank account with us, setting aside a portion of his weekly or monthly income. This forms the reserve, and then the compound interest we pay places you in the dividend class.

Steady Smokers turn to Camels

"I know of no sport," says Erich Hagenlocher, "that places a greater strain on the nerves than tournament billiards. The slightest inaccuracy can ruin an important run. One simple rule for success is, 'Watch your nerves!' I have smoked Camels for years. I like their taste better. Tornado Is Most Frequent Disaster; Causes Heavy Loss of Lives

What type of disaster occurs most frequently in the United States? This question is answered from the relief annals of the American Red Cross which show over a period of years that the tornado, or cyclone as it is called in some sections, is the most frequent and claims a heavy toll of life. It sweeps almost without warning, and in the terrific whirlpool of its force winds it destroys all in its path.

The Red Cross gave relief in 44 tornadoes in eighteen states last year. The tornadoes killed 325 persons, injured 2,755 and the Red Cross gave aid to 21,738 who were homeless, injured or otherwise victims of the storms.

Meaning of "E Pluribus Unum"
"E Pluribus Unum" is a Latin phrase meaning "one from many." The phrase appears originally in a poem entitled "Moretum" generally credited to Vergil. It was part of the design of the Great Seal of the United States and thus became our motto and subsequently was placed on many of our coins. It is taken to mean that we are one nation of many states.

A side swirl of simulated Bird of Paradise feathers in green, black and white gives width to a Juliette cap of black velvet, which is hand-worked into a "knotted" effect. The brief veil is dotted.

The evening bag illustrated is fashioned of a white and gold brocade, a scheme carried out in the intricate frame which is of gilt filigree and simulated pearls, the latter arranged in rope effect. The other handbag is also a muff.

and is designed to carry with formal costumes. It is of shirred white velvet with a wide center panel of coq.

We're Betting on Simplicity

New York—It is gratifying to read in Paris reports that the best dressed women are dressing simply. Here, too, it is quite an achievement these days of awfully dressed-up-looking clothes. Women enjoy looking at them, and they register at fashion shows, but when it comes to personal selection they are being wary of extremes.

One must have one bang-up sort of costume. That is, if one goes about socially at all. As usual, however, the dress that is not too elegant to don after breakfast and to keep on until bed time is the ideal type. It is easier to find that type of dress than one might suppose. Easier than usual too, for everyday clothes are allowed a little more leeway and dinner dresses are toned down by having sleeves.

The separate jacket is the real life-saver. It goes right on over a dress cut low at back and without sleeves, and in a jiffy transforms it into a perfectly good, if slightly formal daytime dress.

These jackets may be in the same fabric or a contrasting one. Speaking generally, the self-toned-through-out costume seems to be gathering in momentum, possibly because it is apt to be the most flattering type.

There is a distinct leaning toward velvet this year. It is worn very much and for ever so many things—from dresses of the shirtwaist type to evening ones, and from entire costumes to a mere bow—one of these smashing big bows everyone is wearing under or just left of the chin, if not directly back.

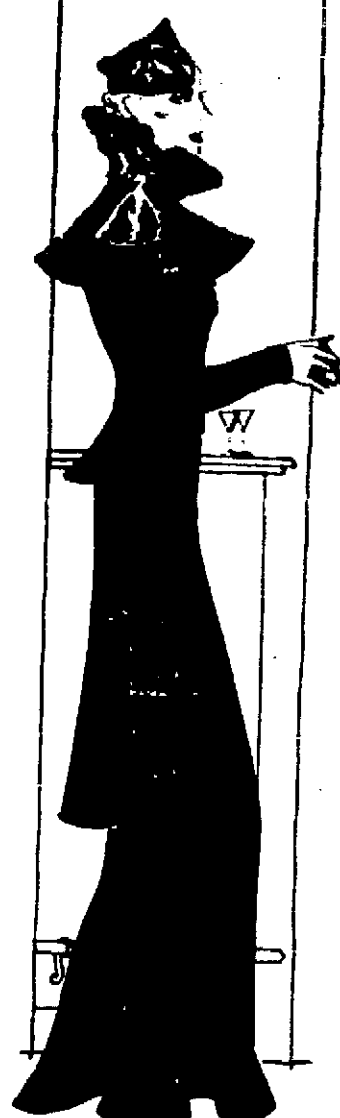

There is a tendency to like, for day wear, skirts that are an inch or so longer than we have been wearing, yet far from long. Evening dresses must be long. The newest drag gracefully again, and have trains.

DID YOU KNOW THAT

The newest and most dynamic fashion in evening furs this season is "chinchilla." In reality chinchilla-dyed lapin, a soft, flattering fur, launched with prestige at the Paris fall openings.

The finger-tip-length cape, for the evening wrap which offers nicely proportioned balance to the floor-length evening dress, is this season's most important entrant.

GAYLAK TO THE BAR

Copyright, 1933, by Fairchild.

A sophisticated costume fashioned of black suede-like woolen is noteworthy for the jaunty peplum of the jacket and the suggestion of a tunic at the back of the skirt. The black gailyak cape-collar flares gallantly, and the bodice of the dress is white satin.

What They Wear in Paris Fur Hats Key to Ensemble

Paris—Simplicity is the keynote of the first autumn clothes seen from about Paris. Except for a slightly longer skirt and shorter coat, and the substitution of the beret for the cloche, one could easily imagine oneself back in the autumn of four or five years ago when straightlines and youthful neatness were the essentials of chic.

The skirts range from 10 to 12 inches from the sidewalk, but nine out of ten coats are three-quarters or seven-eighths length and frequently contrasting. The style, of course, is not new, but its acceptance this season is tremendous. Some of the smartest looking costumes are all of one fabric and color, but many women are wearing lighter coats, checked or plain, over dark dresses.

In this fall's collections of the custom furrers, fur hats repeat the media of the coat but frequently harmonize in detail with the accompanying accessories—muff, belt and gloves. Distinction in accessory ensembles that accompany fur coats is seen in both informal and precious furs. Usually the hats are entirely of fur, although combinations of felt and fur are approved for informal daytime costumes. Burunduki (Chimpunk to you) in combination with felt in the brown or grege tones, kidskin with contrasting details of bright colored felt and endless alliances are to be found.

HOLLYWOOD SIGHTS & SOUNDS

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD — After you see Mae West as Tina, the lion-tamer, in her new film this title will seem merely a recitation of the obvious. The picture is "I'm No Angel," and the scintillating Miss West, in a piece she wrote, adapted, and adorned with dialog, makes it quite clear that Tina never would be accused of scrappily flights.

But no one who saw Mae West in "She Done Him Wrong" or in any of her stage plays will go expecting Tina to be anything other than a glittering devil-dance who has her good points, as well as her curves.

Right This Way, Folks

Tina is a dancer in a cheap carnival when the picture opens, and she works the lions on the side. Having a passion for flattery and jewels, Tina works also at collecting these with the least possible effort, and she has a trunkful of souvenirs when the story gets under way.

The plot thickens in that direction when Tina, at that out of a scrape, promises to do an act in which she puts her head in a lion's mouth.

It brings her to New York and the "big time," where millionaire No. 1 (Kent Taylor) soon is spending fortunes on her, causing millionaire No. 2 (Cary Grant) to visit her in wrath—as well as in professional capacity as No. 1's lawyer and friend—to attempt a break-up of the affair.

Needless to say, No. 2 is susceptible to blatant charms as well as No. 1, but there's a difference here. Our Tina has found true love at last.

Nary A Decorum

And from there the plot moves madly, merrily, lustily—forward. The show, naturally, doesn't want Tina to marry anybody, and unscrupulous "pals" of hers frame an ending to her romance. How they succeed—for a while—and how Tina gets back her man, the plot reveals in telling form. There's a courtroom scene which departs far from judicial decorum—but what's decorum to Tina, who smiles and glides and struts past a jury asking "How'm I doin'?"

And what place, anyway, has decorum in a Mae West picture?

Both Candidates Favor Bond Issue

The State Charities Aid Association is conducting a very active campaign in support of Proposition No. 1, providing that the state float another bond issue to raise money to spend on unemployment relief and both candidates for mayor of Kingston have signed the following statement in support thereof:

We, candidates for the office of mayor of the city of Kingston, N. Y., in urging all voters of this city to vote "Yes" on Election Day on Proposition No. 1 for the $60,000,000 state bond issue for unemployment relief. Regardless of party affiliation, or preference as to candidates, we all can be unanimous on this non-partisan and non-political question. It was passed by a Democratic senate and a Republican assembly, and has been endorsed by the chairmen of both Democratic and Republican state committees.

For two years, the state has aided the cities in the cost of unemployment relief. Our city could not possibly carry that burden alone. It is essential to our city finances, and to the proper care of the needy unemployed in this city, that state aid be continued during the coming year. The legislature and governor decided that the best way to provide state funds for this purpose is by a bond issue; for this a vote of the people is necessary.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Oct. 29. (AP).—An announcement that the United States would enter foreign gold markets as a buyer brought a mild revival of inflationary psychology in stocks and staples today, but enthusiasm soon cooled and prices settled down to a rather dull drift.

Board rooms seemingly were undecided as to the immediate bullishness or bearishness of the new move for dollar depreciation and traders after an inaugural flurry, adjourned to neutral territory to await further developments. Some of the mining shares were in moderate demand, but other categories displayed no particular trend. Grains were firm, but not buoyant. Little attention was paid to a sharp rally of European exchanges against the American monetary unit. Sterling was up about 6 cents and French francs gained about 12 of a cent. Prime investment bonds were a bit heavy.

Among share gainers of fractions to around a point were American Smelting, McIntyre Porecupine, Alaska Copper, Home, R. S. Smelting, Kayser, Case and Allied Chemical, U. S. Steel and American Telephone. Losses were suffered by New York Central, U. S. Steel, American International Harvester, John-Manville, American Can and others.

There were many conjectures as to just how the Federal Reserve system, as the foreign gold buying and selling agent of the R. F. C., would conduct transactions. The Bank of England, in manipulating sterling through its huge equalization fund, does not make public its operations partly because it does not wish to encourage speculation which probably would follow any announcement, or intimation, that the bank was in the exchange market either as a buyer or seller. In banking quarters here it was reported that the British bank when the R. F. C. started to raise the domestic gold price, cooperated with the Bank of France and actually bought dollars in order to hold down the two leading exchanges.

Grand Jury Opens Inquiry, Is Told Spanknoebel Here

German Organization Leader Pro-claims Recent Letter From Nazi Propagandist, Who Says He's Lila-ber U. S. A. Soon, Somewhere.

New York, Oct. 29. (AP).—A federal grand jury opened its inquiry today into the status and activities of Helmut Spanknoebel, reputed Nazi propagandist who disappeared last week, with information that he was still in the United States but preparing to flee to Germany.

Dr. Ignatz T. Grisel, president of the League of the Friends of New Germany, brought to United States Attorney George Z. Medalle a letter from Spanknoebel dated yesterday, in which Spanknoebel said "I am going to leave the United States somewhere."

An order for the arrest of the missing Nazi was issued Friday by Medalle on a charge of acting as an official representative of the German government without diplomatic recognition through the state department.

Grisel, who holds a commission as a surgeon in the United States Army Reserve Corps, was one of several prominent German Americans to go before the federal grand jury.

Others were Bernard and Victor Kridder, publishers of the Staats-Zeitung, who told the federal attorney Spanknoebel sought to establish a censorship of their papers after showing credentials from Berlin; Carl Nicolai, president of the United German Societies; Hans Hollerbusch and Hans Kleinschmidt.

Dr. Grisel told the federal district attorney he found the letter yesterday morning, pushed under the door of his office.

The letter, written in German, said in part:

"You will be undoubtedly surprised that I did not come to see you yesterday, and even more to learn that I will not return at all in the future. I am going to leave the United States of America somewhere."

"You know that I did not leave because of being afraid not to be able to acquit myself against the heavy charges and slanderous accusations, but because I was told by my lawyer that I cannot and will not find justice facing Jewish judges."

In the letter, Spanknoebel denied he was ever "politically engaged," said that he was not a "paid agent of Germany," and that "it was never my intention to spread anti-semitic propaganda."

Spanknoebel said he was "an admirer" of President Roosevelt, but maintained the right and "duty of every naturalized citizen and guest to stand up for his native country should it be dishonored and boycotted."

MILK CODE HEARING IN NEW YORK NEXT MONTH

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 30. (AP).—The health department announced today that a public hearing would be held at New York November 3 for discussion of proposed changes in the state sanitary code relating to milk. Another hearing may be held later at some other point in the state.

One proposal put forward by a sub-committee of the Public Health Council, is to require pasteurization of all milk other than "certified" cities only.

Another is for discontinuance of Grade B pasteurized milk.

Thought Suicide a Dummy.

Pulaski, N. Y., Oct. 30. (AP).—Persons passing the Pulaski Academy playground last night saw a dark form swinging from one of the playground ropes and thought it was a dummy hung there by Halloween pranksters. This morning the form was found to be the body of Robert Glenn, 18, a farmer of near Mapleview, who had hanged himself.

PETITION CIRCULATED FOR MILTON NURSE

Milton, Oct. 30.—As a result of a petition which has been filed recently with the town clerk the question of whether or not $2,000 shall be raised by taxation in the town for the purpose of employing a town health nurse at a salary of $1,500 and paying other expenses will be submitted to qualified voters on Election Day, November 7. Only property owners of the town listed on the assessment roll are qualified to vote on the proposition. Section 53 of the town law reads: "Any elector of the town shall not be entitled to vote by ballot upon any proposition for raising or appropriation of any money or the incurring of any town liability unless he or she is the owner of property in the town assessed to him or her on the last preceding assessment thereof." The 30 taxpayers who signed the petition were from various parts of the whole town. Most of the signers were from Marlborough village and but one from Milton and only a few in West Marlborough.

GOVERNOR LEHMAN HAS DEVELOPED PLEURISY

New York, Oct. 30. (AP).—Governor Herbert H. Lehman, recovering from an appendicitis operation at Mt. Sinai Hospital, has developed pleurisy, but physicians said they were satisfied with his progress. A bulletin issued at the governor's home today and signed by Drs. A. A. Berg, Arthur M. Master and B. S. Oppenheimer, said:

"The governor's condition remains unchanged except for the development of pleurisy. This condition became evident Saturday evening. This morning his physicians continue satisfied with his progress."

Local Death Record

MILTON, Oct. 30.—A Halloween party was held in the parlor of the Milton Presbyterian Church, Friday evening by the Ladies' Needlecraft Society and young people of the church. Games were played under the direction of the Misses Helen Kent and Miriam Sears. MILTON COMMITTEE HEARS OF SCHOOL CENTRALIZATION.

Milton, Oct. 30.—The committee selected to canvass Milton with petitions for the laying out of a centralized school district for Milton, Marlborough and the town of Newburgh, met Monday evening at the home of Mrs. Adelaide Wilke and heard a detailed explanation of the working of a centralized system by Ralph Johnston, district superintendent of schools. They learned just how and why it will be possible after all the various districts have been centralized to build two new buildings in the two villages, maintain them and also all or most of the existing schools up to the sixth grade and actually not spend or receive more local tax money except for the first three years. In the two villages where the present school taxes are of necessity surprisingly high there might not even be any increase the first years. Mr. Johnston expressed himself as most heartily in favor of centralization and declared that quick action must be taken by the townspeople to secure state and federal funds. C. J. Heworth is chairman of the Milton committee. Those at present serving with him are Oliver Kent, Walter Clark, Mrs. Adelaide Wilke and Mrs. Herbert Bell.

SIGNALS! SHIFT!

The ball snaps with perfect timing to the half-back. A carefully picked hole yields another five-yard gain. . . .

Business today has many of the aspects of a football game. Because no matter how much power a team may have, direction and strategy determine the outcome of its contests.

Advertising is admittedly the force of modern business. But unless it is elastic, unless it is able to shift, manoeuvre, stop and start at the calling of a signal, it is not functioning at its best.

In the newspapers, every advertiser is his own field general. He times his plays to meet each opportunity. He shifts or changes on a moment's notice, to out-guess competition.

And newspaper advertisers pick the openings. There is no waste motion, no "bucking" a solid line. The newspaper advertiser chooses just those markets where he's certain of results, and hammers at them for a certain gain.

Business is coming back—but so is competition. Opportunities are increasing daily—and so is the number of advertisers, anxious to seize those opportunities.

Get out of the huddle! Get into the play! Gains will be made today and in the next few months by some businesses—why not yours?

If you want to be the man who calls the signals, rather than the man who plays by blind routine; if you want to pick the openings and time your message to day-to-day sales opportunities, your best teammate is newspaper advertising.

Newspaper advertising gets to everybody every day — and gets there FIRST.

Kingston High Blanks Poughkeepsie By 6-0

Saturday, the Kingston High School Varsity traveled to Poughkeepsie and before 2,500 Poughkeepsie and local fans defeated the Poughkeepsie gridders to the tune of 6-0.

With a cold, stiff wind blowing from the north, which kept punts from gaining any sizable gain against it and spectators in blankets, the followers of the Maroon and White and the Blue and White saw Ed Burgevin, Kingston's great punter, carry the ball from the third yard marker of Poughkeepsie, with excellent interference, around left end to the only score of the game. This happened in the second quarter and in the third quarter, the play which has kept either team from scoring more than one touchdown on their opponent in the last few years, worked again. This time Cullum of Kingston threw a long pass to Evory, Kingston's right end, who caught the ball behind the goal line of Poughkeepsie, only to have it slip through his fingers to the ground.

Play By Play.
In the first quarter, Captain DeBrosky of Kingston, kicked off against the wind to Poughkeepsie's 20 yard line where Poughkeepsie fumbled and Kingston recovered the ball. Kingston advanced the ball three yards to the 27-yard marker of Poughkeepsie where Tiano booted the ball over the goal line. The ball was then brought out to Poughkeepsie's 20 yard marker where the Blue and White recovered the ball and by punts and short runs by both teams the ball sawawed about the 50 yard marker until the latter part of the quarter when Mac Tiano, Kingston's running and kicking back, punted from the Blue and White's 45 to the 30 yard marker. Here Cullum threw a pass to Burgevin who ran to Poughkeepsie's five yard line before being stopped. At this point the Blue and White gridders headed by Reilly and Crevino, their captain, stopped Kingston from advancing until the Kalkochmen got possession of the ball. Here their quarterback, Reylea, came to their assistance and punted out of danger, which ended the first quarter.

Burgevin Scores.
In the second quarter with the ball on the 32 yard line of Poughkeepsie, Cullum of Kingston completed a pass to Captain DeBrosky, who brought the ball to the Blue and White's 15 yard line. Here Cullum ripped off a five yard gain to the 10 yard marker. Here Cullum completed a pass to Burgevin for another five yard gain. Cullum then by a line plunge carried the ball to the three yard marker from where Burgevin carried it around left end over the Poughkeepsie goal line for the deciding six points of the game. After the second kick-off of the ball remained in Poughkeepsie territory between the 50 and 30 yard markers for the rest of the half.

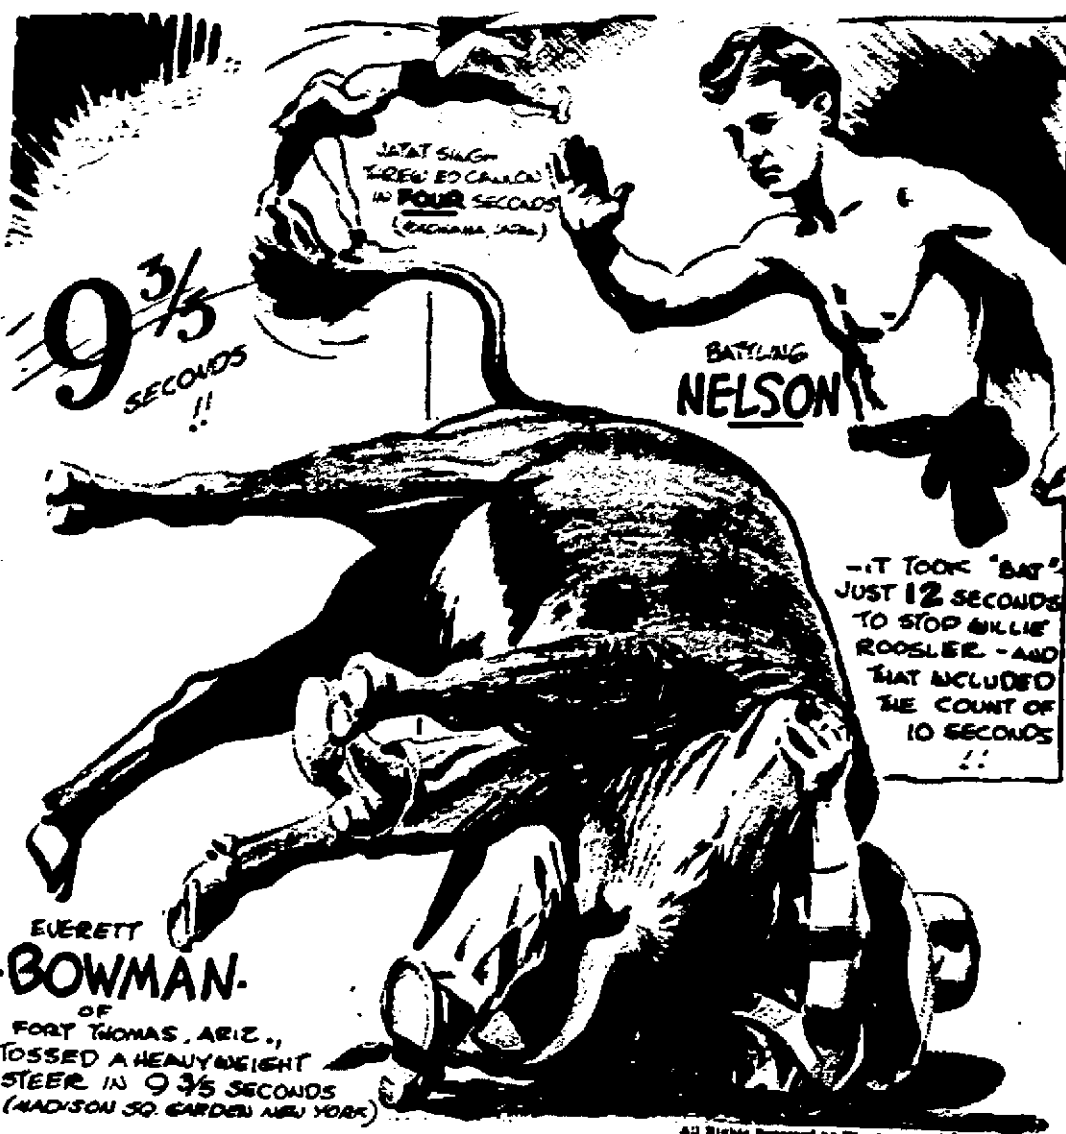

The third quarter was a kicking duel between Tiano of Kingston and Reylea of Poughkeepsie, with the ball sawawing back and forth about midfield.

In the fourth period Poughkeepsie sent Key, its great little passer, into the fight and almost immediately Key got off a long 30 yard pass to Newkirk, who ran the ball to Kingston's five yard line before being stopped by Ed Burgevin of Kingston. Then by a line plunge the Kalkochmen carried the ball to Kingston's three yard line before they were stopped. Here with a strong wind blowing against them Kingston took possession of the ball. At this point Cullum carried the ball by an end run to the 15 yard marker of Kingston and DeBrosky kicked to the 40 yard marker, only to have his punt called back and a twenty yard penalty imposed on Kingston, which brought the ball to Kingston's one yard marker. Here Kingston's line stopped the charging Poughkeepsians from advancing, while Captain Tony DeBrosky of Kingston punted out of danger to his own 25 yard line. Here after one incomplete pass Poughkeepsie's passer, Key, attempted a long pass to Kingston's end zone. It was knocked down by Ed Burgevin of Kingston. This brought the ball back to the 25 yard line. From here the ball was steadily advanced by Kingston to midfield, where it remained until the end of the game.

Outstanding Players.
Ed Burgevin, Kingston's great half back, was the star of the day by making the winning touchdown as well as stopping a Poughkeepsie man on Kingston's five yard line and knocking down a long pass that would have meant a possible victory for Poughkeepsie, if caught. Cullum, Kingston's signal Barker, and Kingston's great kicking and running back, Tiano, also starred and figured heavily in Kingston's victory. With these three men Kingston probably has one of the strongest backfields it has had in years. Captain DeBrosky and "Zip" Zacheo were the stalwarts in the Kingston line. Pretails, Reylea and Reilly were the main threats of the Poughkeepsie gridders.

Next Saturday Kingston plays its first DUSO game with a strong Middletown eleven at the Fair Grounds. The outcome of this game will decide largely who is to be the winner of this year's DUSO League as Kingston and Middletown are rated as the two strongest teams by the football critics of the Hudson Valley.

Kingston Yellow Jackets Stop Poughkeepsie, 13-0

Kingston's Yellow Jackets played true to predictions by defeating Poughkeepsie Sunday at the Kingston Fair Grounds before a large gathering of football fans. The final score in favor of Ken Lyson's Wasps was 13-0, the result of two touchdowns in the first half by Eddie Minasian, snappy little quarterback, and Sergeant Clarence Hupfer, left end.

Both of the scoring players gave exhibitions that surpassed anything they ever showed at the uptown gridiron and their work was set off by excellent support by the rest of the Yellow Jacket brigade which gave outstanding demonstrations of stellar offensive and defensive play. Gil Kelder, in the absence of Don Beany, did most of Kingston's kicking and Alabama Christmas heaved the passes.

Kingston scored in the early part of the first quarter. Johnny Mohr booted off to Poughkeepsie and following a series of exchanges the wasps took the ball on their 25 yard line. Kelder bucked through center for a yard. Minasian took the oval on the next play and broke through the Poughkeepsie line to make his way down the field for 33 yards, planting the ball on the opposing side's 44 yard line. Eddie's dash was a spectacular one, which thrilled the fans as he shook off several tacklers in his romp.

Overwhelmed by Kingston's attack, the Poughkeepsians were pushed back to their 20 yard line where Christmas heaved a pass to Hupfer. Catching the toss in the midst of his enemies, Hupfer dashed down to the six-yard line. Poughkeepsie was penalized to the two yard line. Kelder took the ball but was tackled for a 10 yard loss. On the next play Christmas passed to Hupfer who took the ball over for Kingston's first touchdown. The try for extra point failed.

In the second quarter, Christmas intercepted a pass on Kingston's 43 yard line. Kelder next took the ball to midfield and Minasian next took it for a jaunt to the 24 yard mark. Al Flanagan made four yards and then Eddie Minasian took it from the 20 yard stripe over the goal line for the Wasps' second touchdown, making the score 13-0.

Although they played a hard game in the third quarter, the Kingstonians failed to add to their tally, but Kelder and Christmas scored several consecutive first downs in the frame. In the same period Kingston defense showed its strength by holding Poughkeepsie on the 10 yard line, as it made a rigid attempt to score. The outstanding incident in the fourth quarter was Eddie Minasian's 65 yard run which was called invalid because Kingston was off-side.

Beckingham Palace Is in Shape of Quadrangle

Beckingham palace is built in the form of a quadrangle. The great pile of stone seen from the Mall forms no part of the original design, but was added by Queen Victoria to enclose the uncompleted quadrangle left behind by Nam. This wing contains the suite of rooms reserved for distinguished guests and their staffs. The first floor contains the main rooms; on the next floor are the bedrooms of equerries and attendants, and the valets and maids are housed in the mezzanine.

The ground floor of the front of the palace comprises a private house. This is the residence of the keeper of the palace, the executive who controls the working of the household. The living rooms of the royal family are in the north part of the palace overlooking the Green park, and it is typical of the modern way in which the king and queen live that their private dining room is about one-third the size of that used by the equerries and ladies in waiting.

This royal dining room, by the way, has a curious wall decoration in the form of huge Chinese plaques, which were brought from that fantastic eastern palace at Brighton now known as the pavilion. From there, too, came the central light of the room, which resembles a vast umbrella.

Leading Challengers For Major Football Crowns

By HERBERT W. BARKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

New York, Oct. 30 (P).—Sectional football championships still were far from final solution today as major eleven's slid toward the first November engagements but the contenders had been cut to more reasonable numbers.

On the basis of records, leading challengers for major crowns lined up about as follows:
Big Ten—Michigan, the favorite, trailed by Illinois, Purdue and Minnesota.

East—No definite ratings possible in so unwieldy a group but Fordham, Army, Princeton, Holy Cross and Duquesne look best.

Pacific Coast—Oregon, Southern California and Oregon State the only remaining contenders.
Southeastern—Still a wide open fight among Georgia, Kentucky, Alabama, Mississippi, Vanderbilt and Louisiana State.

Southern—Duke and South Carolina threatened only by Washington and Lee and North Carolina.
Southwest—Arkansas and Texas alone survive.

Big Six—Nebraska stands alone. Rocky Mountain—Utah still the team to beat, with Denver and the Colorado Aggies the sole challengers. Missouri Valley—Oklahoma A. and M. alone blocks Drake's path to the title.

Games This Week
These contenders will be further reduced this week in a program which will provide these salient points:

East: Among the undefeated and untied teams, Fordham, stacking up against St. Mary's Husky Gaels; Princeton, facing Brown; Duquesne, encountering Washington & Jefferson, and Holy Cross, traveling west to play Detroit, all run into some danger.

Army rests up after its smashing triumph over Yale by playing a "breather" against undefeated Coe College of Iowa. Three of the four major eastern eleven's who have been tied but not beaten will meet strong inter-sectional rivals. George Washington squaring off against Tennessee; Carnegie Tech. against Purdue at Lafayette, Ind., and Colgate against Tulane at New York. Dartmouth, tied by Harvard, plays an old jinx, Yale. Notre Dame-Navy, Pitt-

Centre, Temple-Drake and West Virginia-Marquette games complete the sectional slate with the Cornell-Columbia, Penn-Lafayette, Syracuse-Penn State and Bucknell-Western Maryland contests contributing to the "domestic" program.

Big Michigan and Illinois clash in the biggest game from a championship standpoint. Minnesota's title hopes will be tested by Northwestern, while Ohio State plays Indiana. Iowa meets Iowa State.

Big Six—Nebraska looks for its fourth conference victory at Missouri's expense with Oklahoma playing Kansas. Kansas State deploys against Michigan State at East Lansing.

Pacific coast—All of the leaders have an open date except Oregon which faces Utah of the Rocky Mountain group. U. C. L. A. and California meet in the only conference game, with Washington State battling Gonzaga and Stanford playing the Olympic Club.

South—Alabama and Kentucky seek to eliminate each other from the Southeastern Conference race, with Georgia favored over Florida and Vanderbilt threatened by Georgia Tech. Washington & Lee, playing Virginia Poly. and North Carolina, facing North Carolina State, make their first Southern Conference starts with Virginia and Maryland matched in another conference game. Duke and Auburn, Louisiana State and South Carolina are paired off in duels involving representatives of the rival conferences. Centenary, after three scoreless ties in a row, stakes its unbeaten record against Texas A. and M.

Southwest—With Arkansas, idle, Texas hopes to pull closer to the leader by whipping Southern Methodist. Texas Christian and Baylor lock in the only other conference game.

Rock Mountain—Denver's clash with Brigham Young and the Colorado Aggies' tussle with Colorado Mines, head the conference slate.

STONE RIDGE JUNIOR BASKETBALL MEETING.

SPORT SLANTS

By ALAN J. GOULD
(Associated Press Sports Editor.)

Things already are getting out of hand. The boys are on the loose again with what is technically known as the oval or pigskin. It's a wild gallop from now on.

For instance, note the progress of Ralph LaForge, halfback of the Arkansas Razorbacks. Ralph weighs only 145 pounds, about the same as Albie Booth did at Yale. Albie got a lot more publicity than LaForge will ever receive, yet the Arkansas youngster may be just as good or better than the little Eli idol of a few years ago.

From all accounts LaForge had plenty to do with Arkansas' defeat of the highly touted Texas Christian Horned Frogs early in October. As witness these details, forwarded to us by Johnnie Porter of Fort Smith, Ark.:

"The 145 pound back took the opening kickoff and sprinted 90 yards to a touchdown. Again in the third quarter he brought the kickoff from the 10 yard stripe to midfield and four players later scooted 35 yards for the only other touchdown of the day.

Last week against Oklahoma LaForge hauled in the third period kickoff and sped 90 yards for a touchdown. A week later he ran 78 yards for a touchdown against College of the Ozarks. Later in the game he took a kickoff and ran 65 yards for a score which was called back when one of his teammates was declared offside.

"Incidentally, Arkansas appears headed for its most successful season since the days when Hugo Bendek commanded the Razorbacks, more than 20 years ago. Fred Thomson, a former Schulte star at Nebraska, is head coach and doing a fine job after several lean years."

Babe to Boston?
Colonel Jacob Ruppert has so far refused to commit himself, but I suspect he and Business Manager Ed Barrow of the Yankees might be willing to let Babe Ruth go back to Boston to manage the Red Sox, providing New York could get what it wanted in new player material.

Maybe I am all wrong and the Colonel may insist on keeping Ruth, for whom he has always had a special affection and interest, regardless of the Babe's declining lure to the cash customers. But Ruppert demands a winner and if the passing of Ruth is essential to achieving this aim, I doubt if he would let sentiment stand too strongly in the way.

Sail Packs a Wallop.
Ruth, of course, is still a No. 1 threat at the bat and will be so long as he can swing his big stick at the plate. Pitchers have less fear of the big fellow now than they ever showed before. They had him hitting into the dirt the latter part of the season, but there is always the chance he will obtain a toe-hold and break up the ball game. The tougher the situation, too, the tougher the Babe.

In Boston, where baseball began to enjoy a substantial revival of interest this year, the value of Ruth's entry as a player-manager of the Red Sox hardly can be overestimated.

Irish Block Quintet To Meet on Tuesday

An organization meeting of the Irish Block basketball team will be held at the Wilbur club rooms Tuesday night at 8 o'clock. The following players are requested to be present: Ed Scully, Jack McCardle, Melvin Lynch, Frank Schick, Walt Letus, Fred Mower, Harry Gelsler, A. Stump, Ed Micanian. Walter Black will be chairman. Teams which the Irishers expect to book early games with are Rosendale, Kralia, Port Ewen Seconds, Chichester and Mt. Tremper.

LOU BROUILLARD

Lou Brouillard, middleweight boxing champion, has a good business to fall back on when his fighting days are over. He's shown here at the cash register in his lunchroom at Worcester, Mass.
